

About the meaning of teleportation on the internet world

Are you familiar with "an underwater plane"? An underwater airplane is a ship and plane at the same time like two sides of a coin. I believe a paradox is the real meaning of teleportation. Some see the meaning of teleportation as "imortal life", because teleportation makes us exist everywhere in anytime. But if I could live forever teleporting to many places, would I still be "me"? Or... have I ever existed? It's because nothing is there that can be called my ego. How can I keep my ego existing? If you and I would teleport together, could we be each other's evidence at this planet? Maybe ego is an illusion, just movement, and flow... I felt the Internet world has similar issue with teleportation. We lose our ego so easily using Internet, and even change our own personalities. How do you feel about this kind of "Internet dimentia"? Or is there a bright sight of losing us? Here is some my thoughts not to lose our ego through teleporting Internet journey. Keep scrolling to teleport!

Visit [areyoustillthere.site] to teleport!